

THIS IS foreign

KEVIN CHUA // KANGBACK LEE //
ELSA WONG // NAOMI ZHANG

CORE IDEA

Foreign connects solo travellers who will be travelling to the same area during the same time.

PROCESS

Vacation Planning Journey Map

neutral emotion line

Overwhelming amounts of information

Dealing with third parties is not always pleasant, easy, or efficient. Stress.

May feel anxious prior to trip. Plan solo activities. Want to ensure a good, worthwhile experience.

Financial strain for solo travellers.

Sonder. The joys of experiencing a new place. Excitement of travelling solo. Personal growth.

Difficulty meeting others. Solo activities can be unfulfilling.

TRIGGER

RESEARCHING

DECIDING

BOOKING

PREPARING

DURING

HOME

Some event triggers the desire to travel. May come from anything that conjures wanderlust.

Looking into resources for places to travel, things to see. Talking to others to gain ideas.

Decision to travel is made.

Make official flight and accommodation bookings. Financial stress. Frustrations dealing with third-parties. May be indecisive. Pressured.

Packing. Planning trip details. Pre-trip stress. Worrying about whether things will go according to plan. Anticipating travel date.

Sightseeing. New cultures. Eating. Sharing experiences with others and via social media. Researching on the go. Keeping track of experience so far.

Return home. Unpacking. Reflection on the trip. Often share experience with others and on social media platforms.

Tools & Interactions

 ads, photos, websites, blogs

 Expedia, travel blogs, Lonely Planet, etc

 Expedia, travel blogs, Lonely Planet, etc

 Expedia, Hotwire, Airbnb, etc

 travel blogs, travel websites, calendar, etc

 travel sites, social media platforms, etc

 social media, forums, blogs

 friends, family, coworkers

 friends, family, coworkers

 friends, family, coworkers

 travel agent

 travel books, magazines, etc

 other travellers, locals

 friends, family, coworkers, etc

 books, magazines

 books, magazines

 books, magazines

 research notes, planner

 research notes, planner

Emotions

 Longing, desire

 Eager, enthusiastic

 Excited, empowered

 Frustrated

 Restless, anxious

 Excited,

 Impulsive

 Overwhelmed

 Stressed, pressured

 Worried

 Worried, tired, lonely

 Accomplished, pensive

 Withdrawal

Vacation Planning Journey Map

neutral emotion line

Overwhelming amounts of information

Dealing with third parties is not always pleasant, easy, or efficient. Stress.

May feel anxious prior to trip. Plan solo activities. Want to ensure a good, worthwhile experience.

Financial strain for solo travellers.

Sonder. The joys of experiencing a new place. Excitement of travelling solo. Personal growth.

Difficulty meeting others. Solo activities can be unfulfilling.

TRIGGER

RESEARCHING

DECIDING

BOOKING

PREPARING

DURING

HOME

Some event triggers the desire to travel. May come from anything that conjures wanderlust.

Looking into resources for places to travel, things to see. Talking to others to gain ideas.

Decision to travel is made.

Make official flight and accommodation bookings. Financial stress. Frustrations dealing with third-parties. May be indecisive. Pressured.

Packing. Planning trip details. Pre-trip stress. Worrying about whether things will go according to plan. Anticipating travel date.

Sightseeing. New cultures. Eating. Sharing experiences with others and via social media. Researching on the go. Keeping track of experience so far.

Return home. Unpacking. Reflection on the trip. Often share experience with others and on social media platforms.

Tools & Interactions

 ads, photos, websites, blogs

 Expedia, travel blogs, Lonely Planet, etc

 Expedia, travel blogs, Lonely Planet, etc

 Expedia, Hotwire, Airbnb, etc

 travel blogs, travel websites, calendar, etc

 travel sites, social media platforms, etc

 social media, forums, blogs

 friends, family, coworkers

 friends, family, coworkers

 friends, family, coworkers

 travel agent

 travel books, magazines, etc

 other travellers, locals

 friends, family, coworkers, etc

 books, magazines

 books, magazines

 books, magazines

 research notes, planner

 research notes, planner

Emotions

 Longing, desire

 Eager, enthusiastic

 Excited, empowered

 Frustrated

 Restless, anxious

 Excited,

 Accomplished, pensive

 Impulsive

 Overwhelmed

 Stressed, pressured

 Worried

 Worried, tired, lonely

 Withdrawal

USERS

- use technology on a daily basis
- comfortable meeting others through this medium
- between the ages of 21-35
- university graduates
- have not yet started a family
- have freedom to travel for extended periods of time

SALLY JONES

25, Newly graduated

"Sharing a moment with someone is what really makes the experience. A moment is lost if you're alone but a moment stays if you share it with one another"

SUMMARY

Sally wants to travel before starting work. She enjoys the freedom of traveling alone but loves meeting and exploring places with like minded travelers. She enjoys seeing the landmarks but likes finding local hangouts to immerse herself in the city's culture.

TECH SKILLS

A digital native comfortable in using technology to connect with others and does not feel meeting people online is very dangerous.

TRAVELING EXPERIENCE

She has planned and gone on several short trips within her own country. She normally does research prior to going on trips and is familiar with online vacation planners.

MOTIVATIONS

- Exploring more of the world
- For personal growth from being away from home and adapting to different environments.
- Meeting new and interesting people outside your circle that you otherwise won't meet.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Hard to strike conversations and meet people on the street.
- Hard to find non-touristy places.
- Can't access maps and addresses easily.
- Planned trip doesn't allow for spontaneity.
- The hassles involved in traveling in group.
- Traveling alone is more dangerous.

TRIP PLANNING ACTIVITIES

- Researching for things to do and landmarks to see
- Researching for hotels to stay in
- Learning about local customs
- Creating an itinerary
- Booking the activities and hotels

TRIP ACTIVITIES

- Meeting travellers to sightsee together
- Asking locals or other travelers about where to find local hangouts
- Navigating around the city
- Learning about city culture

SHERRY KIM

21, University Student

"I enjoy exploring the city in solitude because I like being able to choose what I want to do and having time to reflect upon myself"

SUMMARY

Sherry loves to travel. She enjoys traveling with friends but due to schedule clashes, sometimes she ends up traveling alone. When traveling alone, she likes to explore the city by herself.

TECH SKILLS

Sherry is comfortable with using technology to find things to and places to go to.

TRAVELING EXPERIENCE

She has planned and gone on several short trips within her own country. She normally does research prior to going on trips and is familiar with online vacation planners.

MOTIVATIONS

- Enjoys experiencing the local life, culture and food.
- Loves meeting people.
- Likes exploring the city alone or with friends.
- Likes taking photos to remember the moment
- Enjoys the challenges of traveling alone.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Asking strangers to take photos for her
- Traveling alone is more expensive.
- Staying in hostels instead of hotels
- Changing plans because of others
- Unable to try out more local foods
- The language barriers

TRIP PLANNING ACTIVITIES

- Research places by using google or reading blogs
- Creating an itinerary of the trip
- Booking the tickets and accommodation

TRIP ACTIVITIES

- Finding information desk for maps and brochures
- Asking people at her hostel for information on things to do
- Finding Wi-Fi

MOTIVATIONS

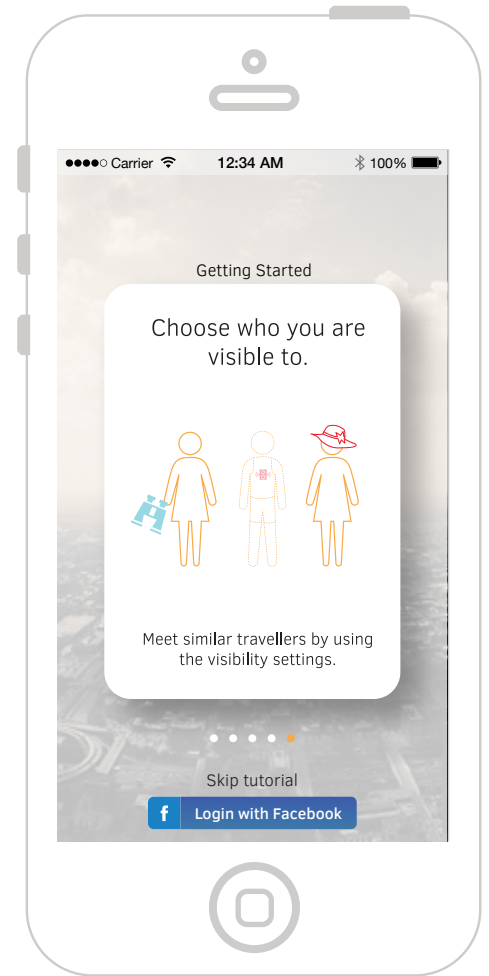

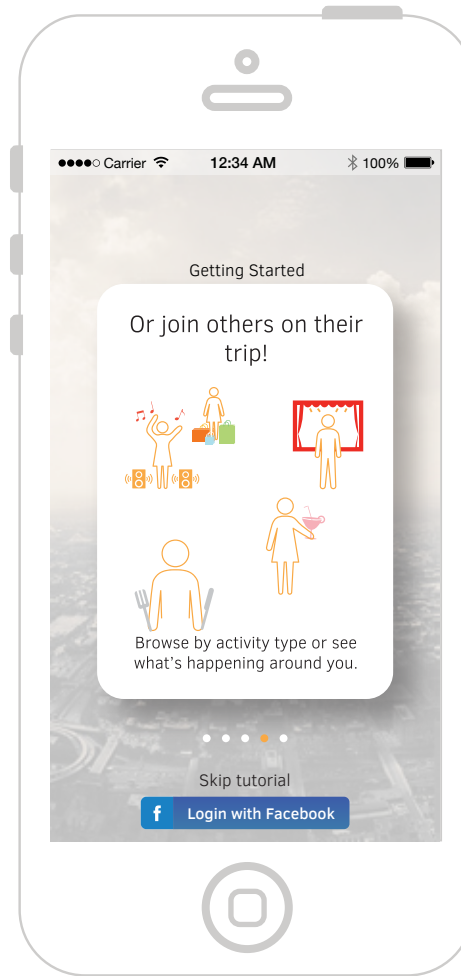

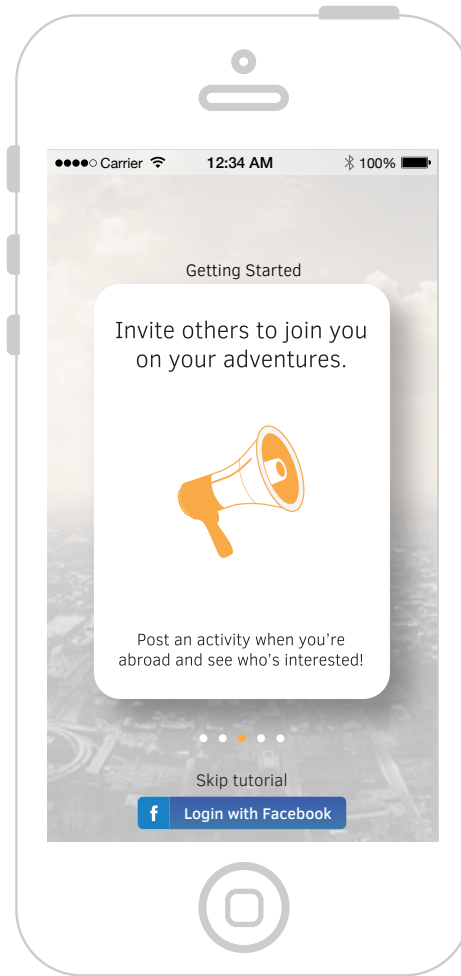

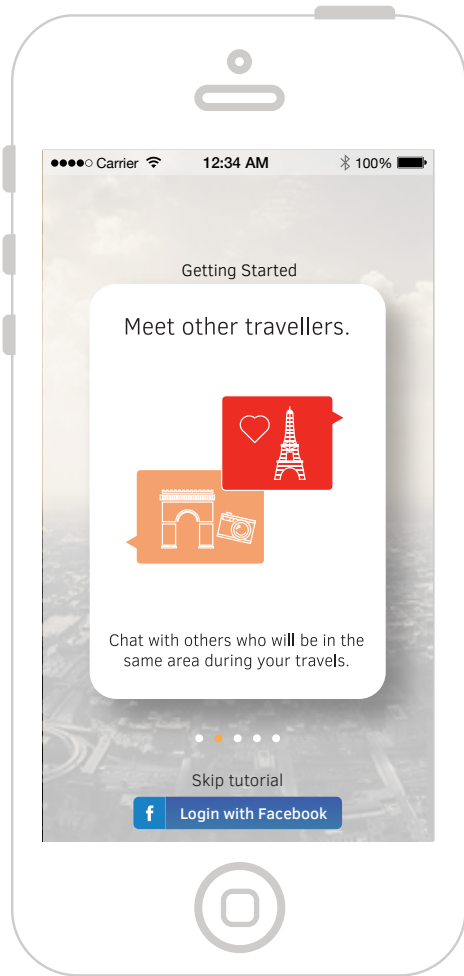

- personal growth through:
 - meeting new people
 - experience new cultures
 - being on their own

FRUSTRATIONS

- language barriers
- no one to split costs with
- limited activities they can try
- selfies

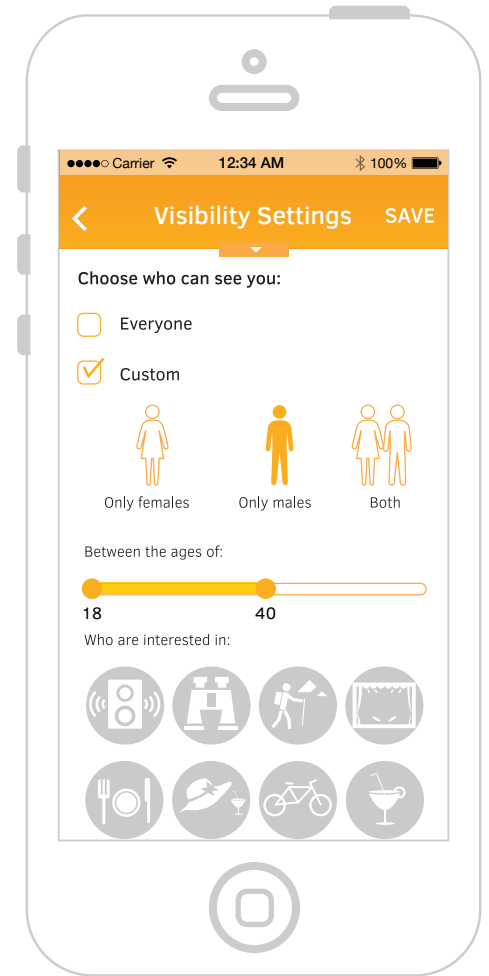

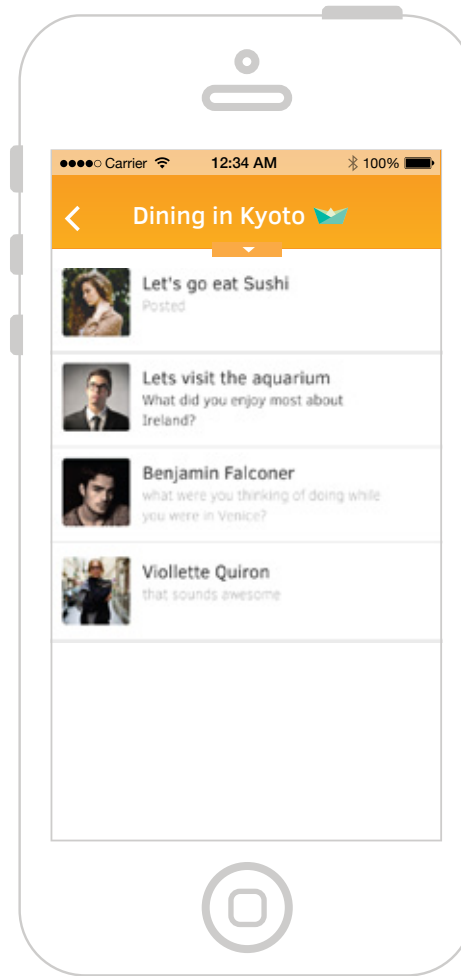

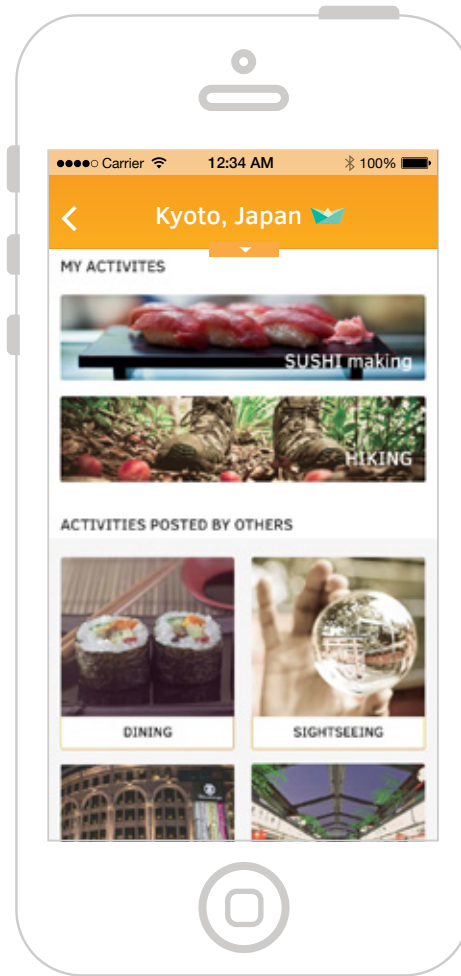

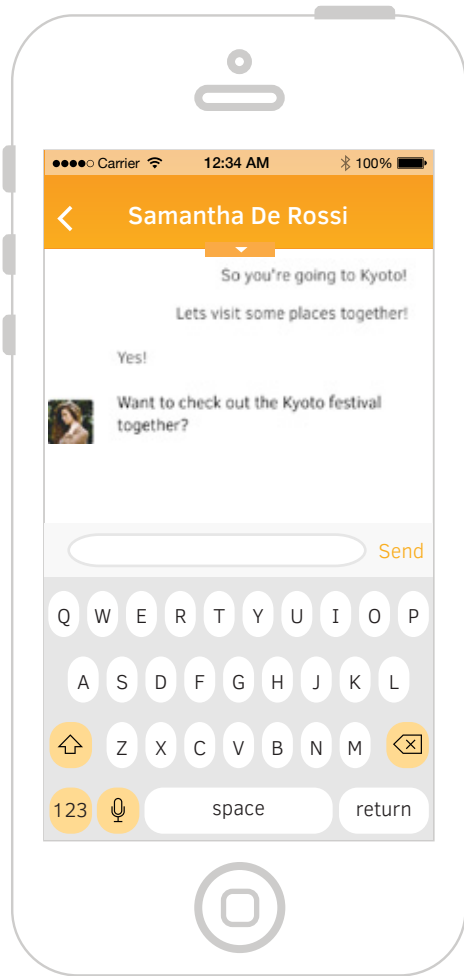

GOALS

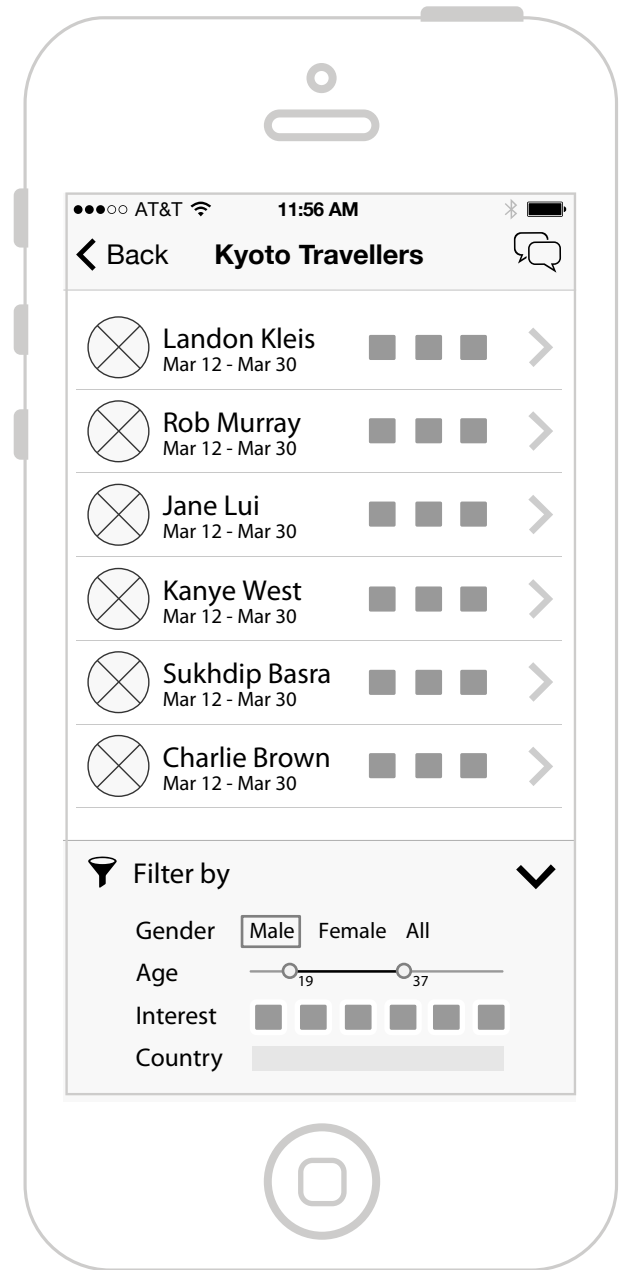

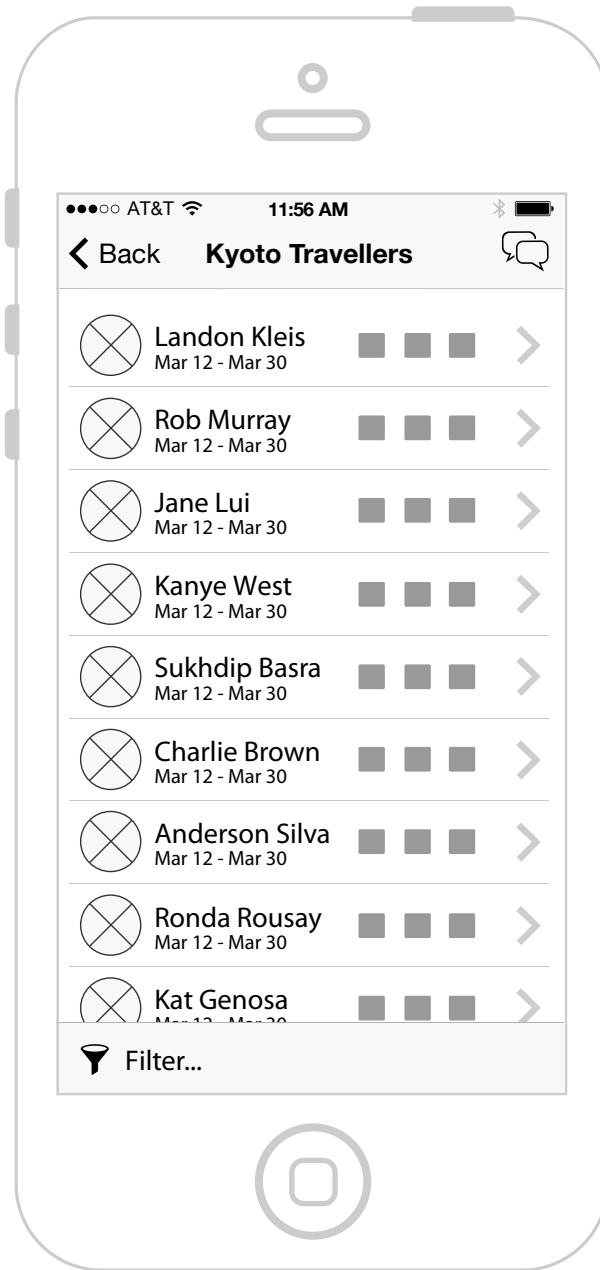

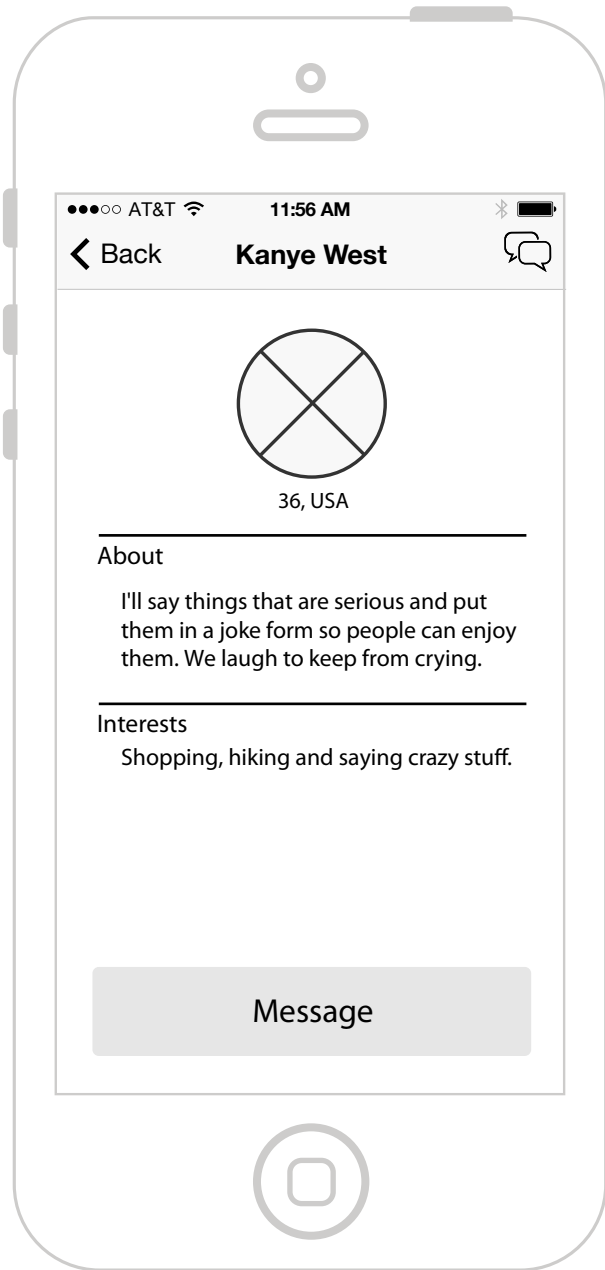

GOALS

INITIAL PROTOTYPE

- generally well-received
- no issues with efficiency or effectiveness
- slips, not mistakes!
- need to improve in satisfaction
- “how do I go next?”
- “what’s this button for?”

drop-down menu needs to be more obvious

some language confusion

next button should be more prominent some elements looked like clickable buttons need a more obvious home button initial walkthrough was helpful visibility idea is a little confusing text is small icons should be more "telling"

APPLICATION WALKTHROUGH

BRANDING

We're all in the same boat.

- travelers have similar experiences
- origami boat = exploration abroad
- simple colours + legible typeface

foreign  Clear Sans foreign

THE END